Description

Most people lack success in numerous areas of their life because they haven't defined it. What is success and most specifically, what is it to you? How do you define success? Who is successful? What is needed is the how to's to define success for us as a person, spouse, parent, employee, business owner, and friend? The clearer we are in the what we desire, the how becomes easier. The clarity connects to staying focused and motivated to achievement. The gas to make the fire grow is the habits, routines, or rituals. Zeller breaks those desires, goals, and objectives down to executable daily actions.
